

KING EDWARD IS NOT WELL

Rumors Have It That He Must Undergo Another Operation Soon.

HE IS VERY SLEEPY

His Majesty Is Now Liable To Take a Nap at Very Inopportune Times.

(Special By Scripps-McIntee.)
Liverpool, May 21.—London advices are to the effect that King Edward condition is far from satisfactory and the physicians are afraid that they will have to perform another operation before long.

Is Very Sleepy.
It is reported that the king during his visit to Italy went to sleep while sitting beside the Italian queen not once but twice. This and other existing conditions have made the physicians doubly anxious for him.

At Edinburgh
One example of the king's condition is given by his actions at Edinburgh when to sleep while the court was in session and had to be waked by attending courtiers who noticed him dozing off at important portions of the ceremony.

RUSSIAN SPIES SEEK EVIDENCE

New York Jews Declare They Are Hounded by Paid Evidence Seekers.

New York, May 21.—Prominent Hebrews declare fully 5,000 paid spies of the Russian government are in the United States, and that everything having the least interest in the Russian government, said or done in this country, is transmitted as rapidly as possible to St. Petersburg, which, it is said, is what makes the Hebrews on this side so careful not to give verbatim extracts from foreign letters in relation to the massacres in Kishineff and elsewhere.

"We must protect our countrymen and ourselves," said a prominent Jewish publisher. "A Russian came to this city a year ago. He said he was a former officer in the army. He was received into our families. He ate at our tables and danced with our girls. We found news of a confidential nature was leaking out and had a secret warning sent to him. He took the hint and disappeared at once."

"The Italians have their Mafia and Russia has its band of murderers who work with as much secrecy and dispatch as the Mafia. In sixty days the Russian government does away with any one it wishes to. No one who attacks the Russian government is safe."

Daniel Guggenheim, treasurer of the Kishineff relief fund, sent $10,000 to the Alliance Israelite Universelle, Paris, by the Ivernia last Saturday, and a similar amount will go by La Lorraine tomorrow. Contributions have been poured into the fund at a rate of $100 to $200 a day from all parts of the country. Jews of Portland, Ore., contributed $5,000. Arnold Kohn, treasurer of the central relief fund for the Jews of Kishineff, received about $1,200 today, making in all about $30,000.

Fort Wayne, Ind., May 21.—An excursion car on the Robinson Park line collided with the construction car on a curve a mile north of the city and six persons were injured, as follows: Charles S. SHORTAGE OF CORN IN BERLIN

Excitement in Market Because Contracts Cannot Be Made.

Berlin, May 21.—Great excitement prevails in the Berlin corn market because of the impossibility of getting corn to meet contract requirements. The latest arrivals from Hamburg proved unfit for delivery, and some shipments which were partly acceptable were spoiled while on their way to Berlin. Only fifty tons of corn meeting the requirements have arrived here. The market for May delivery was extremely feverish, prices advancing sharply, and buyers losing heavily because of the impossibility of making deliveries.

SURVIVOR OF SAMOAN DISASTER

Capt. Harry Webster, a survivor of the Samoan hurricane of 1893, has been placed on the retired list of the navy with the rank of rear admiral.

RUSSIA'S ACTION IS ANTICIPATED

Japan Believes It Will Not Relinquish the Manchurian Territory.

Victoria, B. C., May 21.—Alfred Cunningham, manager of the Hong-kong Daily Press, a passenger on the Karga Maru, which arrived last night says Japanese journalists do not regard Russia's action in Manchuria as surprising or unanticipated. A review of the Japanese journals shows a preponderance of expression that Russia will never relinquish the Manchurian territory. The Japan Times says it is evident that Russia, despite denials, means to maintain her hold on Manchuria even at the risk of war. Japanese papers contain dispatches from many sources regarding the war preparations of Russia. The Mahachi has received advices that large forces of Russian troops are crossing the Yalu river and 20,000 Russians are now massed there. Japanese correspondents state that the United States minister at Peking is indignant at the offensive attitude adopted by the Russian ministers.

TURKISH TROOPS BEYOND CONTROL

Victims of Atrocities in Monastir Are Mostly Bulgarian Subjects.

Salonica, European Turkey, May 21.—The long list of recent deliberate murders in Monastir, with a preponderance of Bulgarian victims, indicates, it is asserted, that the Turks are getting beyond control. Out of the twenty-one murders fifteen Bulgarians were among the victims. In some cases the bodies were mutilated. One man murdered by Turks had his eyes torn out, his face burned and his tongue cut.

ANOTHER STREET RIOT IN NEW YORK CITY TODAY

Italians and Police Come Together in a Fierce Contest This Morning.

(Special By Scripps-McIntee.)
New York, May 21.—The police and a mob of three hundred Italians had a fierce conflict in La Fayette place today. Clubs were freely used and the Italians were roughly handled but no arrest made. Italians are infuriated by the report the contractors in charge of the work at that section had imported a hundred negroes from Baltimore, and gathered along the subway soon after daybreak. They attempted to break the large water main which brought an attack by the police and dispersed the mob.

JEWS DOOMED IN ALL EUROPE

Roumania Is Now Planning To Drive Semites From Their Country by Force.

A CRITICAL PERIOD

All Eastern Europe Aroused, and Governments Are Urging the Riots On.

(Special By Scripps-McIntee.)
New York, May 21.—The total amount of money thus far recorded as being for the relief of the Kishineff sufferers has reached $30,000, most of which is in nickels and dimes and pennies from the very poor Jews of the city.

More Details
Further details of the atrocities of the Russians are being learned every day. One story told is of the driving of nails into the hump of a poor hunchback man who was trying to defend his grandchild from harm.

Horrible Details
Details too horrible to put in print are every day being received by the Jews who can scarcely restrain their indignation. The Jews at Kishineff will retreat into Dombarna Kretchna and make new homes there.

UGANDA ROAD RECEIVES PRAISE

Sir George Whitehouse Talks of the Wonderful Railway, and American Railways.

London, May 2.—Sir George Whitehouse, manager and chief engineer of the Uganda railroad, who has just returned here after seven and a half years spent in constructing the line, speaks highly of the American locomotives and bridges used. He says: "We have thirty-six American and thirty-four British main line engines. The experiment with the American locomotives proved entirely satisfactory. They are 10 per cent. cheaper and although their finish is not so perfect they are more suitable for a mountain railway like the Uganda road because they are not so rigid and take the curves easily. Of the steel viaducts along the line twenty-six are of American and eight are of English make. The American viaducts are excellent."

ARMY GIRL IS TO WED A LORD

Daughter of General Roy Stone, U. S. A., Will Marry an English Peer.

London, May 21.—Society is much interested in the announcement today that a marriage will shortly take place between Lord Monson and Mrs. Lawrence Turner, daughter of Gen. Roy Stone of the United States army. Lord Monson is the nephew of Sir Edmund Monson, ambassador in Paris. He was at one time intended for the diplomatic service and was appointed to the household of the late duke of Saxe-Coburg, but, by the death of his father in 1900, he found himself a peer of the realm and owner of country seats and entailed estates. He is 34 years old.

MORE STORIES OF KISHINEFF

Letters Come From Russian City, Telling Awful Tales of Terrible Massacre.

HORRIBLY CRUEL

Men Were Beaten and Killed, and Women Badly Used by the Infuriated Mob.

(Special By Scripps-McIntee.)
Berlin, May 21.—Dispatches today show that the anti-semitic epidemic is steadily growing as a result of the Kishineff massacres and that all eastern Europe is ready to rise against the poor Jews and drive them out.

In Roumania
Advices from Roumania report that the government there is egging the mobs on to kill the Jews and that today has been set for a slaughter. Women are practising bloody work against the Jewish women all through the country.

DEPUTY WARMS UP TO DISPUTE

Denounces the French Government in No Moderate Terms—Is Well Rebuked.

Paris, May 21.—The chamber of deputies today continued the debate on the religious agitation. During a speech of M. Engerand, nationalist, denounced the government's policy, and M. Baudry d'Asson, conservative, created a scene and had to be restrained by the guards from attacking M. Berteaux, radical socialist. M. Engerand declared Germany profited by the present anti-clerical policy of France, and closed his remarks with warning the ministers that their course was likely to unleash the fury of the people. Premier Combes and the other members of the government continued their policy of reserving their replies until the close of the debate.

KILL GOVERNOR AS A REVENGE

Assassination at Uia Thought To Be the Result of Riots in March.

Uia, European Russia, May 21.—The assassination of Gov. Bogdanovich here yesterday was apparently an act of the revenge growing out of the riot at Slutsk in March last, when twenty-eight persons were killed and fifty others wounded by gendarmes and troops. Details of the assassination show that he was walking along among the crowds in the park, when he was approached by two men, one of whom bowed and handed Bogdanovich a packet. While the governor was examining it the men drew revolvers and riddled his body.

CLOTHING CONCERNS SUFFER FIRE LOSS

Good Work by Chicago Department Saves an Entire Block From Destruction.

Chicago, May 21.—Fire that caused a loss of over $500,000 wiped out the establishment of Strauss, Elsenrath & Co., 240 to 244 Jackson boulevard. Starting in the middle of the block, between Franklin and Market streets, the big wholesale clothing concerns of B. Kuppenheimer & Co. and J. G. Miller & Co. were for a time menaced by the flames. Good quick work by the fire department saved what at first appeared to be the destruction of the entire block fronting on Jackson boulevard.

With everything in their favor to put up a hard fight, the department got into action rapidly, and, under Chief Musham's supervision, the battle was carried on to a successful finish. From the roofs of adjoining buildings and from the front and rear the blaze was fought by nearly one-third of the entire department. There was nothing to hamper the work of the men, and the battle, waged for over two hours, was one of the most spectacular ever seen in Chicago.

PARLIAMENT OF TRANSVAAL OPENS

Lieutenant Governor Promises To Meet Local Educational Ideas with Support.

Pretoria, May 21.—The first British Transvaal parliament was opened today by Sir Arthur Lawley, the lieutenant governor of the Transvaal. After the members had been sworn in the lieutenant governor delivered his inaugural address. In welcoming the new and large legislative council he said the government had done its best to obtain a representative body without having recourse to a popular election which would in these times only create political and racial strife. He reviewed the work accomplished, and promised so far as possible to meet local sentiment in regard to education, saying the government recognized the rising generation as an asset to be developed to the highest degree. Provisions would be made to teach the Dutch language, in accordance with both the spirit and the letter of the peace terms. The Boers were conspicuously absent from the assemblage.

MORE TROUBLE WITH CROATIANS

Renewal of Disturbances on the Anniversary of the Death of Jellacio.

Vienna, May 21.—The commemoration of the anniversary of the death of Jellacio, the former ban of Croatia, was the occasion for renewed disturbances at Agram, capital of Croatia, today. The local governing bodies at Jaska, Czolonica, Semce and Draga have been dissolved.

FIERCE SNOWSTORM PREVAILS IN MONTANA

Ground Is Covered to a Depth of Ten Feet, With Thermometer Below Zero.

Butte, Mont., May 21.—Ten feet of snow are reported from Couits, Mont., near the boundary, and the thermometer is ranging from 4 to 6 degrees below zero. Traffic on the Great Northern railway is seriously interfered with by drifting snow.

Conservative estimates place the loss on stock at about $2,000,000. The number of head of stock lost is figured at about 90,000. This loss will be swelled by the ruin of the fruit crop throughout northern Montana. The storm was followed by frost of the most damaging kind and all garden stuffs have felt its effects.

The Missouri river is rising rapidly and the ranchers are leaving the lowlands in anticipation of disastrous floods.

OWNERS CLOSE THE SALOONS

Liquor Men Object to Paying $1,000 License Fee at Champaign.

Urbana, Ill., May 21.—The twenty-eight saloons of Champaign have closed because the council wants a $1,000 license fee, while the saloonkeepers want to pay but $500.

Thirsty denizens traveled to Urbana continuously to slake their thirst at the Urbana bars. The Champaign saloon men say they are banded together to fight to the finish, and that they will keep shut a month if necessary. It is declared by them that an ordinance reducing the fee was passed, but vetoed by the mayor. Then some of the aldermen who voted for the reduction changed base, and accordingly the fee stands at $1,000.

Business in Champaign is said to have already suffered a decrease, and the men behind the bar say the town will be "dead as a door nail" if the aldermen do not give in. Meanwhile Urbana is reaping a harvest, while buttermilk is the only liquid refreshment obtainable in Champaign.

FLOODS FORCE MILLS TO CLOSE

CROP OUTLOOK APPEARS BRIGHT

WHILE RAIN IS NEEDED, THE CROPS GROW.

BANNER RESULTS PROMISED

Everything Points to a Most Successful Year for the Farmers.

From all parts of the country, comes the cry that more rain and that speedily must be had if the small fruits are to be saved. Then, too, the seeds that are in must be nourished and the upper layer of soil is dry and without the proper nourishment for their growth. The warm weather has been a boon to the farmer in one way, but what he would like now would be to see a good steady rain that would thoroughly soak everything through and through.

Hopeful Feeling
As a general rule, however, the farmer has a more hopeful feeling towards the ultimate success of his big crops. Winter wheat and rye are well up and show a good substantial growth. They are strong and sturdy plants and of good color, giving every indication of a heavy growth. The snow of the winter left the soil just right for their start and the warm weather that has prevailed the week has given them impetus to grow strong and fast.

Oats and Barley
Oats and barley of the early planting are showing well over the ground. On the high ground their growth has been remarkable for this season of the year. In the low bits of seedling the drying up of the floods of April have left the fact evident that the seeds rotted in the ground and failed to germinate. This, however, is not a great loss as but few fields are so affected, and the ones that are, have a chance still to grow a half crop, if the warm weather continues. While it will be thin and sparse, it will grow nicely if coaxed by this weather.

Corn Planting
Advices from all over the country show that much of the corn is now in. In some localities all is planted while in others over half. The weather is excellent for planting but a good rain would much benefit the germination of the seed as soon as it is all in the soil. On the clay land there is some complaint of its being and coming up lumpy which will make a poor showing. As this land is not frequent in the country, the prospects are for a banner crop.

Potatoes
In many localities the ground has been prepared for this crop, and in some localities considerable is planted but there are many fields which have not yet been touched. Where the eyes have been placed it looks as though they were doing nicely but as with other fields a good rain would benefit them much.

Pastures Green
The pastures are green and show every indication of a heavy growth. Rain would help them but if it does not come for some days or a week it would not kill it down as it has such a good start. Cattle have been turned out and see into be thriving.

Small Fruits
Near Milton the currant crop has been badly frost bitten but in other parts of the county word comes that it will be larger than usual. Cherries are doing well, and crabs and apples all point to larger crops than last year. Pears and plums are in full bloom and unless heavy frost should come they will give large yields.

Strawberries
From every side comes word that strawberries will be large and luscious. The wet weather in April in no way affected them and they are growing fast and developing into strong and sturdy plants. Many beds show decided more promise than for years past and the growth has been steady.

Kitchen Gardens
In and about the city the small gardens are growing fast. Peas are way up and radishes and lettuce have already been placed on tables grown from the beds planted early. Plenty of water from hydrants has given them a good start but a rain is sadly needed to some which were planted late.

Chickens
This years crop of chickens promises to do away with the scarcity of the last two falls. A few turkeys are being grown, but the major part of the feathery tribes to be found in the farmyards are chickens. Ducks in some localities are doing well, a few geese are being raised but the majority of the house wives care just at present seems to be in finding eggs enough to set her hens.

Help Wanted
While it is early yet and the farmer has not been rushed with work, farm hands can find ready employment from now on. One farmer of prominence is quoted as saying that the scarcity of farm help is each year becoming more and more noticeable, and if it continues and the farm bred boy continues to go to the city there will have to be an exodus the other way to keep the crops moving.

NEW FACTORY LAW IS TO BE ENFORCED

Changed Child Labor Regulations Have Gone Into Effect.

Preparations are being made by State Factory Inspector Backus for changes which have been necessitated in the handling of children working in factories under the new child labor law. There are over 8,000 children in the state under 16 years of age who will be required to get permits, in addition to which there will be over 1,000 school children between 12 and 14 years of age who will take out vacation permits, entitling them to work during the vacation period.

New Law Is a Model
"Wisconsin has a child labor law which is second to none in the country," said State Factory Inspector Backus yesterday. Much work will be required to get the system in operation, but within two months we will be in a position where we can tell in a moment whether he should be in school. The truancy officers will work in harmony with the factory inspector's office, and there will be no possible manner in which parents who attempt to drive their children to work instead of sending them to school will be able to avoid the requirements of the statute. Under the new law no child under 12 years of age can work. Between the ages of 12 and 14 years he can only work in certain prescribed places, during the period in which the public schools are not in session. All children employed in any establishment must have a permit.

Work Begins in Ten Days
"It will be ten days before we will have had our new blanks printed and are ready to issue permits. For the next month and a half this office will be kept very busy. 5,000 or 6,000 will probably be made out in the Milwaukee office within the next two months. There will be no loophole whereby the manager of a factory can escape the requirements of the law. When the blanks have been printed we will begin the task of putting the system to work. We will take one factory at a time. Children will be sent to us in shifts to avoid having them come to us all at once."

GOVERNMENT TELLS OF THE CROPS

Reports From All Over the Country Give a Very Bright Outlook.

The crop report of the weather bureau at Washington for the week just passed, says:
"All northern and central districts east of the Rocky mountains experienced highly favorable temperature, during the week ending May 18, the central valleys, the lake region and New England receiving ample and much needed warmth, while in the southern states, it was too cool for favorable growth. The very general absence of rain in New England and the middle Atlantic states and over a large part of the lake region, and Ohio valley has intense drought in these districts and in consequence of which crops have made slow progress and planting and germination, have been greatly hindered."

Corn planting has been further delayed by rains in the states of the lower Missouri valley, and by drought in the Ohio valley, middle Atlantic states and portions of the lake regions. Planting is well advanced in the Dakotas and in Iowa, and Missouri, where it is germinating rapidly. In Nebraska, the Ohio valley, and middle Atlantic states a large part of the crop is yet to be planted not more than half the area having been seeded in Ohio and Nebraska.

Winter wheat has made considerable progress in Nebraska and Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, Tennessee and Kentucky, but in southern Missouri, and states northward of the Ohio river and in the middle Atlantic states, the crop has suffered further deterioration.

In the spring wheat region the weather conditions have been highly favorable.
In the Missouri valley, Oklahoma and Texas, a general improvement in the condition of oats is indicated, but in the Ohio valley, middle Atlantic states and the greater part of the lake region, the condition of the crop is less favorable, owing to the effects of drought.

There is general complaint throughout the cotton belt of unfavorable effects of low temperature on cotton. The crop is generally late and the warmth and sunshine are much needed.

SURPRISE PARTY AT HALL HOME

Mr. and Mrs. E. Hall Were Delightfully Surprised by Beloit Friends.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Hall were delightfully taken by surprise yesterday afternoon when a party of about a dozen friends from Beloit and Rockford dropped in upon them. They had come from their homes over the interurban road. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Hall after an afternoon had been pleasantly spent in reminiscence, and the party returned at the seven o'clock car. The visitors were Mrs. Charles Green, Mrs. Joseph Hendley, Mrs. Thomas Hendley, Mrs. George Carey, Mrs. Charles Vale, Mrs. Edward Salmon, Miss Nellie Green and Miss Sarah Hendley, of Beloit and Dr. and Mrs. M. L. Hanford, of Rockford.

CARPENTERS ARE CHARMING HOSTS

GAVE A MOST DELIGHTFUL PARTY
LAST EVENING.

MANY VISITORS WERE PRESENT

Delegations from Rockford and Beloit Came Up for the Occasion.

Carpenters held possession of Assembly hall last evening, throwing the doors wide open to all their friends. Aside from members of the local union and their wives about fifty visitors from Beloit and thirty from Rockford were also present. The hall has been tastefully decorated in honor of the affair and a very pleasant program arranged. J. C. Osborne presided very happily over the ceremonies.

Pleasant Program
John Cunningham opened the evening's program with a vigorous address on unionism. He was followed by Harry Garbutt in two of his popular songs. Margaret Roberts then gave the Persian dance in graceful fashion, after which a quartette of little girls sang. They were Agnes Heffernan, Hazel Geeser, Hilmer Larson, and Otto Peterson.

The "Carpenter's Banner"
After another solo by Harry Garbutt August Mauer of Beloit spoke interestingly of the "Carpenter's Banner," explaining the symbolism of each color and design. Hazel Geeser and Catherine Roberts, who sang pretty solos, were followed by Mr. Mauer in a humorous recitation. Other musical numbers followed. In which Helmer Larson, Otto Peterson, Hazel Geeser, Oda McKelvie, Mamie Kahlemer, Mary Anderson, and Agnes Heffernan took part. Mrs. H. Baker had charge of this part of the program and was highly complimented on the skill of her pupils. An address by Rev. Tippet formed an effective close for the speeches of the evening.

ABNER DANIEL'S QUAINT SAYINGS

Sage of the South Talks About the Future of the Railways.

From his speech advocating a railroad, Abner Daniel says:

"Yes, as I said, they are a-pokin' all manner of fun at us, an' its chiefly because we hant got no railroad. The maddest I ever got on this line was down at Fillmore's store one day. A little slick chap came along sellin' maps of the United States of America. They was purty things on black sticks, and I wanted one fer the wall o' my room. I was about to buy one but I thought I'd first make shore that our country was on it, so I axed the peddler to plant it out to me. Well, after some search he put his knife blade on what he called this country, but to an' beho' it was mighty high covered with little round dots about the size o' fly specks. 'What's the matter with it?' I axed 'im. 'Oh you mean them dots ses he, and he turned to a lot of reference words in the corner of the map. 'Them, ses he, them's put thar to indicate the amount of ignorance in a locality. You'll find them in all places away from the railroads. A body kin say what they please agin railroads, but they fetch schools an' books an' enlightenment. You've got a good many specks, ses he, but some of these days a railroads will shoot out this way, an' them brainy men amongst you will git the chance God intends to give 'em. Gentlemen I didn't buy no map. I wouldn't a had the thing on my wall with it specks starin' me in the face. It wouldn't a done any good to scratch them off, fer their faces would a' beten left. No, friends, citizens and well wishers, thar ain't but one scraper that will ever rake our specks off, and that's the cow catcher of a steam engine. I say let 'er come. Some objection has been raised on the score of killin' cattle. That reminds me of a story that they tell on old Bert Preston, who has a farm on the main line beyond Darley. He was always agittin his stock killed so fast an' a puttin' up heavy claims for damages, untill folks began to say he made his livin' by buyin' scrub cattle, an' sellin' mashed beef to the corporation. One day the road sent out a detective to watch 'im and he seed Bert drive a spindlin' yerlin out o' the thicket just in time to get it knocked off by a through freight. The detective went back and reported, and they waited to see what Preston would do. By the next mail, they got a claim in which Preston said the yearling weighed 800 pounds and was a fine four gallon milk cow. They threatened to jail 'im and Preston agreed to withdraw 'is claim, but he got down hearted, and traded his place fer a farm on another railroad an' the last I heard o' him he was at his old trade agin. I reckon that's about the way we'll be damaged by gettin' our stock killed. Let's get this road and scrape our fly specks off."

RAILWAY NEWS OF INTEREST

Items Concerning Local Yards and Notes Along the Main Line.

After negotiations extending over a period of five weeks, the North-Western management has reached a settlement with the trainmen, baggage men and switchmen, which seems eminently satisfactory to both sides. Increases are made in the wages of conductors, brakemen and baggage men in the passenger train service of 12 per cent. Under the present scale conductors are receiving from $100, to $120 per month, and the increase will give them from $112 to $134.60. The passenger brakemen are now getting $50 per month, and under the new scale will receive $56. Baggage men are now receiving $50 to $70 per month, and will hereafter get from $61.60 to 78.80. The conductors and brakemen in the freight train service have received an increase amounting to 15 per cent.

The Milwaukee road stations at Medtrville, Waterville, Wadena and Zwingle, a short distance from Dubuque, Ia., have been closed because they are considered by the company not to be on a paying basis. A number of operators have lost their positions and the residents are practically without train service as the result.

A grievance of Burlington trainmen threatens to further complicate the labor question on the systems operated by the Hill merger. The double header question is the chief issue.

The remaining Minneapolis-Chicago roads have taken no action as to the shortening of the running time of their limited trains to twelve hours. The Burlington is holding conferences but the result has not been given to the public.

C. H. Wright and family of this city left Tuesday evening over the St. Paul road for Fairhaven, Washington, where they will make their home in the future.

The Pere Marquette road has let contracts for building the first section of its Chicago extension. The contract covers a distance from New Buffalo, Ind., of twenty miles.

Illinois tariffs are being revised by the state commission and reductions of 15 to 25 per cent will be made.

General passenger agents of western lines believe that the month of May will break all records for California travel.

The Pennsylvania limited will become a twenty-three hour train between Chicago and New York.

J. C. Fox, general foreman St. Paul railroad roundhouse, is in Chicago today on business.

HORSES IMPROVE WITH BREEDING

More Interest Than Ever Is Now Being Shown in Fine Equines.

The horse world has seen many improvements during the past twenty years. The interest has centered mostly in the light harness horse. Thirteen hundred and sixty nominations for the Kentucky trotting futurity, and 810 nominations for the Hartford futurity show the great interest in trotters. Toward this state of affairs there has been nothing that has had more influence than the New York Speedway, says the New York World. The Speedway has stimulated the demand for trotters, a demand that has induced an increase in breeding and that fills the futurities.

No better indication of the faith in the present stability of the trotting horse breeding and racing could be given than the returns to the futurities of the season. The results of the stakes, as well as others to which which entries closed earlier, would seem to indicate that breeders have come to consider the engagement of all their colts in the important futurities as a settled business policy—not so much perhaps with an expectation that they will win one of the rich prizes themselves as from the knowledge that their colts so engaged have added value in the market.

who know the value of securities, and the demand there is for good investments, —who have the capacity for selling such securities, and wish to devote all or a part of their time to such work may find it to their advantage to write me.

and that the comparatively trifling cost of nominating them is returned a hundred fold when they are to be sold.

This is a condition that promises well for the continued prosperity of breeding and racing, will enable progressive associations like those controlling the Hartford and Lexington tracks to maintain their valuable futures and perhaps still further cheapen the cost of competing in the same.

Formerly a good coach horse could be purchased for a few hundred dollars. Today this has changed, and a good horse either for coach or saddle cannot be purchased for thousands. Breeders all over the country have not been raising high class horses of late because of the automobile and the consequence is that horses have become scarce. Time was when a horse that could step fairly well was likely to be a prize winner, but today only the best stock can go into a show ring and capture a ribbon of any kind.

WARDENS GIVEN PRINCELY SALARY

The Report of the State Treasurer Brings Out Startling Facts.

State Treasurer Kempf sent to legislature today, detailed statement of the receipts and expenditures pertaining to the game warden system, from 1899 to date, in accordance with the joint resolution introduced by Senator North, which was adopted by both houses last week.

The report from the state treasurer shows the disbursements for salaries and expenses have kept full pace with the receipts, the yearly balance being about the same for each fiscal year. For the three calendar years, 1900, 1901, and 1902, the amounts paid to game wardens for salaries and expenses were $41,806.43 in 1900, $35,336.29 in 1901, and $78,438.39 in 1902.

During the months of January, February, March, and April, of the current year the disbursements have been $26,067.53.

The tables show the disbursements for salaries and wardens' expenses for the last four fiscal years, with the months of May and June of 1903 to be heard from. The table for 1901-02, shows only nine months, owing to the change from October 1 to July 1 in beginning the fiscal year, in accordance with the act of the legislature of 1901.

...Forty Years Ago...

Janesville Daily Gazette, Thursday, May 21, 1863.—The capture of Jackson, Miss., by General Grant's army, is confirmed. The rebels under General Johnson retreated northward with the evident intention of going to Vicksburg.

About to Rejoin His Regiment.—Lieut. Col. Cassius Fairchild, of the sixteenth Wisconsin, who was severely wounded at the battle of Shiloh, has so far recovered that he proposes to leave for his regiment tomorrow.

The question of who stormed Mary's Heights at Fredericksburg is at last settled. The credit of first reaching the enemy's guns belongs to the sixth brigade of skirmishers of the Fifth Wisconsin regiment.

On Sunday there was to be a combined attack on the front of Vicksburg by the fleet, above and below.

It is understood that the enemy was engaged last Friday and Saturday removing the heavy guns from Vicksburg to a position at Black river bridge.

There are about six hundred hansas employed upon the capitol building at Washington. On account of the wet weather the work on the dome has been so much delayed that the statue of liberty will not be raised on the fourth of July as contemplated.

Arrangements are being perfected to increase our cavalry, and it is asserted that we will have within six months 100,000 additional troops in this arm of the service.

A Huge Gun.—An "elephant" 34,000 pounds was shipped from Baltimore to Fortress Monroe, a few days since. It required ten powerful horses to draw it upon a wagon.

Market Report

The general tone of the reports received this week indicated that a decidedly more hopeful feeling prevails among the farmers that at any time since the opening of the season. There has been but little rain during the week to interfere with the progress of farm work and the warm weather, especially toward the close of the week, has caused vegetation to come forward rapidly. This increase in temperature has been quite marked over the entire state, except along the lake shore where the prevailing east winds have influenced the temperature.

Winter wheat and rye have continued to make rapid growth. The plants are strong, hardy and of good color, giving every indication of a healthy growth.

Oats and Barley: The warm weather of the past few days has caused a rapid growth of these crops and it is now evident that much of the early seedlings, especially on low and poorly drained land failed to germinate. On the high land the stand is good, but the continued wet weather during April flooded much of the low land resulting in quite a serious injury to a considerable portion of the crop.

Corn: The week was very favorable for the completion of preparation for corn and this work is now well advanced. Considerable planting was done during the latter part of the week, especially in the southern counties. Taking the state as a whole probably one-fourth of the acreage is planted. The soil is generally in good condition. On clay land, however, there is some complaint of haling and working up lumpy.

Potatoes: The ground for this crop is generally prepared and considerable planting has been done.

Grass and Pastures: The week was very favorable for the growth of grass and the outlook for an abundant hay crop is very promising. Pastures have made rapid progress and stock has been turned out quite generally.

Fruit: Apple, cherry, plum, pear, and peach trees are in full bloom. Apparently there was no serious damage in exposed localities. The present outlook is promising.

Strawberries in some localities were injured by the frosts but generally the crop will be about the average.

UTTERS PRAISE FOR NORTHWEST

ENVIES THE MEN WHO WORK

Says That if a Man Is Worth His Salt He Will Work and That Those Who Have Built Great States Are Worthy of Admiration.

Ashland, Ore., May 21.—President Roosevelt has completed his tour of California and entered upon the last stages of his long trip, which is to end at Washington, June 5.

The president made his longest speech of the day at Dunsmuir, Cal. "I think I can say," he said "that I came to California a pretty good American, and I go away a better one."

"Glad though I have been to see your wonderful products, your plains and your mountains, your rivers, to see the great cities springing up, most of all have I enjoyed meeting the men and women to whom we owe what has been done with mine, and railroad, and lumbering camp, and irrigated field, and the ranch, and the counting house—the men and women who have made California what she is."

Envy For Workers.

"I pity no man because he has to work. If he is worth his salt he will work. I envy the man who has a work worth doing and does it well; and surely no men alive are more worthy of admiration than these men to whom it has been given to build up great commonwealths like this."

"It is the fact of doing the work well that counts, not the kind of work, as long as that work is honorable. I speak to citizens of a community which has reached its present pitch of prosperity because they have done each his duty as his lines are laid."

"It is of course a perfectly trite saying that in no country is it so necessary to have decency, honesty, self-restraint in the average citizen as a republic, a democracy, for successful self-government is founded upon that high average citizenship among our people, and America has gone on as she has gone because we have that high average citizenship. Our government is based upon the self-respecting majority."

Government Escapes Danger.

"Our government has so far escaped the twin dangers of the other republics, government by a plutocracy or government by a mob, either of them absolutely alien to American ideals."

"In coming across the continent from the Atlantic to the Pacific the thing that has struck me most is that fundamentally wherever one goes in this broad country a good American is a good American."

The president also spoke at Sisson and at Montague. At the latter place he said: "When my trip was made up I asked why it was necessary to give relatively four times as much time to California as to any other state. I understand now. I only wish it had been possible to make it eight times as much instead. This state is in boundaries and resources greater than many an old world empire, and think what it is to be a citizen of a union in which a commonwealth like this is a state."

Enters Oregon.

The president was greeted by 6,000 people as his train pulled into Ashland, where he made his first stop within the confines of Oregon. Bands were playing, cannon were booming, and thousands were cheering as the president stepped out upon the rear platform of his car for a fifteen-minute speech, which he introduced by expressing the peculiar pleasure he felt at entering the state of Oregon for the first time.

STOMACH DOSING WILL NOT CURE

Only Way to Cure Catarrh Is By Breathing Hyomel

Ask any physician is atarrh is a blood disease and he will tell you that it is a diseased condition of the mucous membrane and that it cannot be cured by blood purifiers, pills, tablets or other forms of stomach dosing. The only sensible and scientific way of curing catarrh is by the use of Hyomel.

Breathed for a few minutes, four or five times a day, through an inhaler that is so small that it can be carried in the vest pocket, Hyomel will absolutely destroy all catarrhal germs and destroy the disease. Catarrh can never exist where Hyomel is used. It has a two fold action, destroying the disease germs in the air passages and lungs, and soothing and healing the inflamed mucous membrane.

For the last three months, The People's Drug Co., one of the most reliable firms in Janesville have been giving their personal guarantee with every package of Hyomel they sold, that it would effect a cure or they would return the money. They have had scores of reports of remarkable cures of both acute and chronic cases of atarrh by Hyomel; but only two people have asked for the return of their money.

The leading people of Janesville, ministers of the gospel, well known business men, and prominent lawyers are among those who have been cured by Hyomel. No other treatment has the endorsement of so many reputable people in all walks of life as this scientific yet common sense cure for catarrh.

WISCONSIN WEATHER FORECAST

Partly cloudy tonight and Friday with probable thunder showers.

READERS SAW IT

Frank L. Mayers, editor and manager of the Pennsylvania Journal, is a newspaper man of genius, enterprise and ability.

On a Saturday morning recently the Journal contained a serious typographical error. A large mercantile house advertised thirty pieces of wash silk at 25 cents per yard, but when the ad appeared in the Journal it read, "thirty pieces of wash silk at 10 cents per yard."

Early in the morning the ladies of Pensacola began a raid on the silk counter, calling for that "ten cent silk." The merchant was wild. His reputation was at stake. He could not afford to refuse to sell as advertised. He asked Mr. Mayers for an explanation over the telephone. Back came the answer from Mayers, "Sell your goods just as advertised and charge up the difference to the Journal."

By noon Saturday every yard of the thirty bolts of silk were sold, the purchasers paying ten cents per yard and Mr. Mayers paying the other 15 cents per yard.

"It was a costly mistake" says the Journal, but we paid it. The reputation of the merchant to sell goods as advertised was maintained, and the reputation of the Journal to make good its mistakes was again and forever established. But the advertisement, the mistake, and the swarm of ladies who hurried down that morning to buy silk, did more than all this.

"They established the fact that people do read advertisements and that they do trade with the merchant who advertises."—Daytona (Fla.) Gazette-News.

Some people have an idea that people never read advertisements. This is a mistaken notion. A three line notice in fine type, if it announces a genuine bargain, will catch the eye of people enough to fill the largest store in town before nine o'clock in the morning.

The trouble with many advertisers is that they don't say anything. The simple statement that John Smith has the largest stock of goods in town is worth no more than the sign over the door or a tin placard creaking in the wind at a country road crossing, but let John Smith announce that he will sell dollar kids at 50 cents a pair for an hour on Saturday and he will be obliged to lock his doors to keep back the crowd.

Advertising don't sell goods, but if judiciously handled, it does attract people, and a small display that talks about bargains is worth more than a hand bill that deals in generalities.

The Gazette at the present time is the most effective medium that Janesville merchants ever had. The daily goes into three-fourths of the homes in the city, and the weekly visits 3,000 farm homes in the county twice a week. If you don't believe it pays, announce a genuine bargain some day and watch results.

A PLEA FOR HARMONY

Fond du Lac Commonwealth: The factional strife which has all but rent the republican party in Wisconsin, in twain has reached a point where the thoughtful, loyal members of the parties have a serious responsibility to confront. The bitterness of the strife has been intensified and the chasm, separating the two factions, widened until it has jeopardized the best interest of the party in the state and threatened the prestige of Wisconsin republicanism in the nation. On account of it the present session of legislature has accomplished practically nothing, the constant clash between the two branches of that body preventing the enactment of any important legislation. It is unreasonable to suspect that this situation can continue. The change that is bound to come will mean the making or the unmaking of the republican party in Wisconsin. Certainly, then, the time is ripe for every loyal member of the party to give his best efforts to a reorganization which shall be based on sound principles. It is time when there should be neither stalwarts nor half-breeds, but all should be republicans. * * * The republican party has stood for principles of the highest, and broadest type. It stands for patriotism, for honest finances and for protection to American labor and American industries. There is a broad ground on which every republican and work and it is time it should be done. Personalities have no place in a campaign, such as is to be waged next year. The party principles are paramount and around them every loyal republican in Wisconsin should gather, select their leader, and show that this state, which has ever held the banner of republicanism high aloft, has buried factionalism and added more laurels to her record. Let the slogan be, "Neither stalwarts nor half-breeds, but republicans forever."

That harmony is desirable within the ranks of the republican party, is not a debatable question, but that it could have been secured at any time during the past four years, without the sacrifice of manhood is evident to every man who has taken any interest in public affairs.

The 300 men who were read out of the party at the Madison convention represented a state wide constituency.

The strength and importance of this constituency has been demonstrated before the legislature at the present session. If the business men and manufacturers of the state are obstructionists; then conservatism is a by-word and if to secure harmony, this element is to be absorbed then the luxury will be dearly purchased.

The governor may have learned some things by experience, although he has not shown himself to be a very apt scholar in this school of valuable information. He will find the party disposed to meet him more than half way on any reasonable proposition. If he desires harmony it can be secured by a little effort on his part but the day has gone by when the people will longer submit to dictation.

WHERE WE ARE AT

The much discussed primary law is finally disposed of, so far as the legislature is concerned, and conservative republicanism has won a signal victory. The whole matter will be referred to the court of public opinion in November 1904, and it is safe to say that whatever decision may be, the people will be satisfied. It may not be very gratifying to the governor and his little coterie of friends to recall the fact that the action secured was offered two years ago, and yet this is true. The argument used by conservative members of the legislature in 1901 was the referendum argument, and if obstinacy had yielded to reason, the whole question could have been settled at the polls last fall.

That is "where we are at" so far as the primary law is concerned. If there is any consolation in the thought, the administration is welcome to it.

The Gazette predicts that the bill will never become a law, for the reason that the only sentiment demanding it, is manufactured sentiment. The state has no use for the law because the commonwealth is not politically corrupt, and because it is not populist in tendency. To people generally are satisfied with the men they select to represent them, whether they be delegates to a convention or members of a law making body. They have sense enough to know that party organization is vital to the welfare of good government, and they will be slow to disrupt it by passing a primary law.

The conservative element in the senate is to be congratulated. These men have stood between the people and radical and impractical reform. An element in the assembly has also been consistent, and the outlook for republicanism in the state is brighter than when the session opened.

The people have been long suffering, but the day of one man power is doomed. The rule or ruin policy has experienced several severe jolts and it will no longer dominate. The party will get back into line under conservative leadership, and the element of discord will be silenced.

OLD FASHIONED GOSPEL TRUTH

Secretary Root's speech contained nothing but old fashioned gospel truth. He has the courage to stand up and defend the Dingley law. He stands in support of the president, along with Secretary Shaw, Senators Allison and Lodge.

It is well that these national leaders are making their opinions known. They may be able to stop much wild and un-republican discussion—discussion that Colonel Bryan says makes Democrats.

Republicans of Iowa need not grope in the dark. They now know where the party will be nationally, and it is not necessary to say that Iowa Republicans will stand with the party nationally.—Des Moines "Capital."

The "Iowa Idea" according to Governor Cummins, has not taken very deep root. While the state is naturally erratic, and given to fads, it is strongly republican, and it will continue to be all right on national issues.

Senator McMillan will continue to dump his saw dust in the river.

It might be just as well to withhold criticism on Postmaster General Henry C. Payne, until his investigation is completed. It is possible that he knows more about the situation than the men who are attempting to advise him. Mr. Payne's friends in Wisconsin have confidence in his ability and honesty, and the people will be satisfied with his public service.

The members of the assembly packed up and went home last week, but they came back and went on record like men. Good for the Assembly.

The atmosphere has cleared a bit, and the third term prospects appear to be vanishing in the distance.

There are no flies on the senate, and less insects on the assembly than there were early in the session.

Some people will be disappointed if the ad valorem tax fails to disclose that million dollar fund.

The festive crowd should take up his abode in the capitol park, to be near his benefactor.

The legislature will adjourn this week and the state will settle down to normal conditions.

The primary law is now in safe hands. The people's verdict will be the popular verdict.

If there are no market shooters, what will become of the game wardens?

PRESS COMMENT

Menasha Breeze: Now, brethren, let's forget half breedism and stalwartism and be republicans.

Fond du Lac Commonwealth: Oshkosh is to be congratulated on her enterprise in getting a movement under way for a club house to cost the snug sum of $50,000. It is to be hoped that the promoters may be successful in their undertaking.

GESKEY USED A SET FISH LINE

DEPUTY GAME WARDEN DRAFAHL ARRESTED HIM.

FINED IN MUNICIPAL COURT

Judge Fifield Imposed a Total Fine of $21.60 Upon Him This Morning.

August Geskey was brought up before Judge Fifield this morning and fined fifteen dollars upon his pleading guilty to a charge of using a set line in Lake Koshkonong. The charge was preferred against him by Peter Drafaul, deputy game warden. The costs in the action amounted to $6.60, the result of an effort on the part of Geskey to escape from Drafaul.

Tried to Get Away
The warden gave him permission to change his clothes before being brought to this city, and instead of doing so he made an effort to evade his captor. The only effect which his attempt to escape had was to pile up the costs a few dollars higher. He used the set line a week ago last Monday night, and was discovered Tuesday morning, May 12.

Violation of Ordinance Charged
Joseph Johnson was given a hearing in the municipal court this afternoon on a charge of violating the city ordinance which provides that no ashes, refuse, or other rubbish be thrown into the city streets.

DUST PNEUMONIA IS THE LATEST

Germ-Laden Air Is Responsible for the Increase of Lung Trouble.

Dust pneumonia is the latest fad for the swells of Chicago to suffer from. It is also the topic discussed by the Chicago health department in their latest pamphlet on how to avoid it. If it has struck Chicago it will doubtless reach Janesville some time during the summer or early fall. Whether the disease arrives or not the warning will be well-heeded. It is as follows:

"To avoid it," said Dr. W. K. Jacques, director of the chemical laboratory, "stay out of the dust as much as possible. Prevent dust from entering the room. A cheesecloth screen stretched over the window will keep it out."

"Rose fever" is also prevalent in Chicago. Pollen from the flowers enters the eyes and nose and produces an irritation.

WILL DECORATE ON COMING PICNIC DAY

Secretary Fisher Has Received Flags and Bunting to Festoon the Janesville Streets.

Thirty-nine dozen flags have been received by S. M. Fisher, about one-half of the total number which will be used to make gay the streets of Janesville on Woodmen's picnic day. They are the official flags of the order, of three different designs, extending the freedom of the city to the visitors who are expected to swarm the streets on that day. About five hundred yards of red, white and blue bunting and five hundred yards of M. W. A. bunting will also be pressed into service on the same day. This morning an invitation was extended to the fire police to head the procession on the day of the picnic.

Seats Are Going: Seats for the production of the "Prince of Tatters," with an old Janesville favorite, Al. Wilson, in the title role, were placed on sale at the box office of the Myers Grand this morning. Manager Myers reports that the indications from the advance sale during the early hours of the morning are that Wilson will be given one of the banner houses of the year.

They are part of a large order placed early in the year and the styles are exceptionally dainty. The skirts are made extra full and some have a wide hemstitched bounce finished with a dust ruffle, rimmed with many rows of lace insertion and edging; others with fine embroidery, tucks, and ruffles. Corset covers with dainty ruffles of lace and embroidery finished to give long effect to shirt waist fronts. These dainty garments were bought with an eye to the coming graduation outfits. Seeing means buying.

BARBERS STUDY MEDICAL BOOKS

PREPARE TO TAKE EXAMINATION IN JULY.

EXPECT TO BE ABLE TO PASS

Tonsorialists Do Not Believe Practicing Barbers Will Be Rejected.

In common with tonsorial artists in all corners of the state Janesville barbers are beginning to put in their leisure moments each day in the pursuit of learning. There is hardly a shop in the city where a medical book of some sort containing a chapter on diseases of the skin is not in active circulation. Within a couple of months the examinations under the new license law will be held, and although it is not expected that any practicing barbers will be disqualified, no one cares to run the risk of being thrown out.

Studying Medicine
It is the medical side of the subject on which most of the razor wielders feel themselves a trifle shaky. According to the law every licensed barber must have a practical knowledge of the nature and treatment of all common diseases of the skin. Only a few of them can qualify on a scientific examination on this branch of their art. They have picked up a few rule of thumb conceptions which generally manage to have the desired effect, but only a few of them could tell an antiseptic solution from a soothing syrup, if called upon to name the ingredients of which each is composed.

Are Not Afraid
But they feel no doubt of their ability to absorb sufficient learning by the time the examining committee begins its work to pass the examination with flying colors. As to the other requirements, hearing upon the condition of the shops, the barbers assert that the law will not have the slightest effect upon the reputable shops, and that no cleanly barber will have anything to fear. It will be the inferior places which will have to mend their ways.

DENTISTS END MEETING TODAY

THE SUCCESSFUL CONVENTION COMES TO A CLOSE.

CLINICS TOOK UP MORNING

Addresses and General Business Made Up Program for the Afternoon.

Porcelain Inlays took an important part in the sessions of the Southern Wisconsin Dental society today. Several of the most interesting clinics, out of the long list of clinics held this morning, were demonstrations of this comparatively new wrinkle in dental science. This afternoon three papers on the subject were delivered. They were all held over until that time in order that the grouping might awaken more lively discussion. It had the desired effect.

Society Is Prospering
Over one hundred and ten members of the dental fraternity are now enrolled in the membership book of the Southern Wisconsin Medical society, a little organization that started nine years ago as a one-horse affair at Lancaster, under the name of the South-Western society. It now bids fair to rival its pretentious elder brother, the state society, which numbers one hundred and seventy-five practicing dentists. About twenty additions have been made to the roll during the two days' meetings which comes to a close this afternoon.

Close With Election
The annual election of officers was slated for the fore part of this afternoon, but as some of the dentists who were to deliver papers were obliged to leave on early trains their part of the program was given precedence, and the business meeting will come shortly before adjournment. Many of the visiting dentists have left on trains during the afternoon.

PARADISE ON EARTH

MONTE CARLO THE BEAUTY SPOT OF EUROPE.

Famous Gambling Room Furnished by Nature with a Magnificent Setting—Sir Hiram Maxim Tells of the Chances of Players.

(Special Correspondence.)

HE Riviera is in full swing. Nice, Monte Carlo, and Mentone are crowded with guests. But most people will find that beautiful, subtle, sinister place called Monte Carlo the most attractive spot in the whole little paradise of towns that stretch along the Mediterranean in these regions. The love of gambling remains one of the primordial instincts of mankind, and no amount of preaching on that subject will keep people away from the tables.

Lately a distinguished man of science has been investigating Monte Carlo from the scientific point of view. This remarkable man, Sir Hiram Maxim, discusses all subjects in the cold light of reason. He has made a vast fortune by a death-dealing machine which has sent more men to dust than possibly any plague of modern times. You may talk of great statesmen, of wonderful generals, of magnificent tactics, but in the last resort it was Sir Hiram Maxim that decided the battles and the fates of nations.

That strong face with its aquiline nose, its square jaw, its firm and compressed mouth, its hatchet shape, and its length brought into greater relief by one great tuft of white hair rising from the forehead and another great tuft of hair descending from the chin—the whole clearly though quietly Yankee—that man looks something like a great and merciless law of nature.

Behold Sir Maxim, then, at the tables of Monte Carlo, and indifferent, like nature, to the poor human passions of hope and despair surging round him, examining the whole thing as he might a new shell.

Out of a very long article, I choose this passage as summing up in very clear terms, his judgment of the chances for and against the player when he fights against M. Blanc with the tables as the battle ground. He first describes how a little guide book to Monte Carlo laid down that the chances, between the player and the bank were as 60 to 61 and that the winnings of the bank were $5,000,000 a year.

He says: "This appeared to indicate to me that the players of Europe and America took $305,000,000 to Monte Carlo every year, staked it, won back $300,000,000, and left $5,000,000 with the bank. The magnitude of these figures staggered me. I could not understand it. Surely it could not be true. Still, if the bank actually won $5,000,000 a year, and its chances were only 1 in 60 better than the players, it was quite evident that $305,000,000 must have been staked. However, upon visiting Monte Carlo and carefully studying the play, I found that, instead of the players taking $305,000,000 to Monte Carlo, and losing $5,000,000 of it, the total amount probably did not exceed $5,000,000, of which the bank, instead of winning, as shown in the guide book, about 1 1/2 per cent, actually won rather more than 90 per cent; therefore, the advantages in favor of the bank, instead of being 61 to 60, were approximately 10 to 1."

Before I give a delightful and characteristic little picture of Monte Carlo life from Sir Hiram Maxim's pen, I ought to premise to those who don't understand the laws of the tables that there are thirty-six numbers and zero on the roulette table. When zero turns up the punter gets nothing; the bank takes half his stake, and this is supposed to represent the advantage the bank has over the player. Now hearing this in mind, read the following little episode of Monte Carlo life:

Monte Carlo, and played until they had lost their money. They generally commenced by staking a 20 franc piece at a time. If they won, they added a 20 franc piece to their little pile on the table. If they lost, they replenished their pile with another 20 franc piece from their pocket. On one occasion, I noticed that the wife was patiently backing red, while the husband quite as patiently backed black.

"When one lost, the other won, and at each put down 20 francs at each coup, they kept even so long as zero did not come up, but when zero did come up they lost half their stake—that is, the bank took from the two players 20 francs, and as about one coup was played in a minute, it followed that the zero came up on an average once in every thirty-seven minutes. Their average losses would therefore, be 20 francs every thirty-seven minutes, and this sum when only 20 francs was staked; but at the play dragged on they usually staked three or four times that amount, their money lasting them from about 1 o'clock in the afternoon until 6 or 7 o'clock in the evening."

And so, of course, at the end of a certain number of days or weeks, this excellent couple had lost all the money with which they had come. This may appear an exceptional case; from what I have heard, it is very typical of Monte Carlo life.

I have heard of one man who, with his wife, was worth something like $200,000 a year when they came to Monte Carlo. Regularly every season they played on some such system as that described; and the end was that they were both reduced to pauperism, and lived on a small allowance which was given to them by the Monte Carlo magnates.

Sir Hiram Maxim ultimately comes to the same conclusion as everybody does who has ever studied Monte Carlo—that there is but one safe principle to adopt, and that is not to gamble at all. The bank will get even with you in the end, if you only play long enough.

Finally, Sir Hiram quotes the greatest of all authorities on Monte Carlo—namely, M. Blanc, who established the rooms. M. Blanc always gave the heartiest welcome to the inventors of systems; he knew they would add to his revenue. But when he was asked how one should gamble, he answered in a burst of candor: "The most sensible advice that can be given to would-be gamblers and inventors of systems to be used at Monte Carlo may be summed up in a single word—'Don't.'"

Oh! If that advice had been taken, how many self-murders would have been avoided; how many dishonors—dishonors of man and of woman; how many families!

Seek Society in Liberia. Sixty negroes with their wives and children arrived in Liverpool yesterday on their way to the black republic of Liberia, where they intend to engage in cotton planting. They came from Georgia (one of the American cotton states), and have paid their own passage money.

Some of them, when interviewed, complained of what they termed the social tyranny of the United States, which kept them outside the best society. The Liberians, on the other hand, were anxious for them to settle in their country. They hoped never to return to America. The men carried double or single-barreled fowling pieces.—London Mail.

Fight Consumption Plague. In his warfare against consumption Health Commissioner Lederle of New York is having thousands of leaflets on the subject printed in every language spoken in that city, including Chinese. These leaflets, which will be distributed among the poor in every tenement district, contain simple instructions by the observance of which the danger of infection may, to a great extent, be avoided. Dr. Lederle will also send trained nurses among the tenement-house consumptives to care for and instruct the afflicted and their associates.

President Is Too Fat. In spite of all he can do, the President is unable to restrain his growing girth. It is now said that with a view of holding the urgent adjournment at bay he will take fencing lessons from an Italian master at arms.

Danger in Long Trains. A bacteriologist recently made microscopic examinations of the washings from a woman's train worn in the streets of London, and found it to contain 10,672,000 microbes of disease.

HER ROOSTER HAT.

"Humph!" growled Mr. Johnson, impatiently tossing away his paper one evening a couple of months ago, "these Audubon society people make me weary! What's the good of a tropical bird if you can't make some use of it? Of what other use are they except to be sewed onto women's hats, hey?"

"Well," replied Mrs. Johnson, "I suppose on sentimental grounds they—"

"Yes, that's what it all is—just sentiment, maudlin sentiment," interrupted Mr. Johnson. "Now, look a-here! Isn't it a whole lot easier for a richly plumaged tropical bird to experience a quick and humane death from a few properly placed birdshot fired from the gun of an expert hunter, than to suffer the flustering and hopeless torture of being devoured by a relentless snake of the jungle? Isn't it a heap better that a gorgeously feathered bird of the tropics should be saved to adorn a woman's hat rather than flap down in a tropical swamp or morass where or other and die without ever being any use to anybody? Look at the millions and billions of magnificently decked tropical birds that have their feathers pulled out every year in the jungles by predatory and crafty monkeys. Is there any good in that sort of thing, I'd like to know, and I've supposed it's any fun for a handsome bird to be clawed all to pieces by a mischievous anthropoid?"

"No," said Mrs. Johnson, "but the ground taken by the Audubon society—"

"Oh, yes; I know what ground they take," cut in Mr. Johnson, "and I know what 'ud happen, too, if people like the Audubon society folks could have their way about everything. We wouldn't have any meat, for one thing. They'd try to make vegetarians of the lot of us by claiming that it is cruel and outrageous to slaughter any sort of animal—better let 'em die in their tracks and be buried with headstones over each of 'em. We'd never know the taste of an oyster or a clam—the silly bilbies 'ud demand that the mollusks be let alone and given a chance to think it all over until they croaked of their own volition. From that it 'ud be an easy step to the assertion that no trees ought to be cut down for lumber, since trees have life, haven't they? So've carrots and turnips and cabbages and onions, haven't they? And I suppose that after awhile they'd get us down to a banana diet. I notice that some of these Audubon society women wear seal-skin coats, all right, and get seals are handled more brutally than any other kind of beast or bird whose pelts or feathers are required by human beings—they're simply clubbed to death. There are too damned many of these unwritten, summary laws as it is. And if a woman wants to wear a great auk of the Andes on her hat, why, let her wear it—that's all I've got to say."

"But," put in Mrs. Johnson, "don't you remember that when I wore that egret in my hair to the theater last winter you complained so strenuously about it, and said I ought to be ashamed to wear feathers that are pulled from a live bird?"

"Never made such an idiotic remark as that in my life," said Mr. Johnson, in his usual self-satisfied tone. "Fact is, it's been a source of secret grief with me for some years past that you don't use more feathers and birds and gear of that sort, like other women. These top-pieces of yours that you spraddle over with a lot of nasty-looking autumn leaves and impossible grapes and poppies and truck like that don't make any kind of a bit with me at all. You've just dreamt that I ever made any kick about birds or feathers. Just you get whatever you want in the bird or feather line, and let the Audubon society like it or lump it. If you feel like putting a Lake Michigan whitefish or a half dozen on the half shell on the top of your bonnet you go ahead, and if anybody interferes with you tell 'em to mind their own business."

All of which Mrs. Johnson had in mind the other day when, as customary in such cases made and provided, she invited four of her closest friends to accompany her down town to help her pick out a hat. While Mrs. Johnson isn't a member of the Audubon society, she is in sympathy with the aims of that admirable organization, and she ignored—not, it must be confessed, without exercising considerable self-sacrifice—all of the hats in the millinery shops bearing ornate birds and bird wings on their crowns or sides. But when she tried on one of the new-fangled hats of the autumn, with a full-sized bantam rooster perched on one side of it, and concluded that it "became" her, she had no scruples.

Mr. Johnson was just going up the front steps with his latekey in his hand, when Mrs. Johnson entered the gate and called cheerily to him. When he turned and looked at her he pretended that he had to clutch at the railing of the front steps to keep from falling down, and he glared fiercely at her hat for fully ninety seconds before he was able to say a word. Then he gasped:

"Wh-wh-where did you get that bird?"

Hobbling down her discomfiture as best she could, Mrs. Johnson smiled and replied: "Latest, eh?" broke in Mr. Johnson. "You bet it's late. It's pretty late in the day for any woman by the name of Johnson to go hiking through the streets of Washington with the whole carcass of a bird of prey stuck on the top of the head. And a carrion bird at that! Lemme tell you something. In nearly every state in the union that I know anything about there's a heavy fine for killing buzzards, because they're natural-born garbage eaters, and for all I know there's such a law in the District of Columbia."

"Why," began Mrs. Johnson, "it's the very latest idea in millinery, straight from Paris, to have one of these—or roosters on one's hat, and it's only a little while ago that you reproved me for not wearing more feathers on my—"

"Feathers, madam!" snorted Mr. Johnson. "To my certain knowledge I haven't employed the word 'feathers' for exactly 21 years and nine months. I don't interfere with your private affairs or with your manner or tongue, Mrs. Johnson, but if you think for one eighth of a second that you're going to ever walk out on the public street with a white wearing that infernal, moth-eaten buzzard or nightmarish bald eagle of the Rockies, then you've got several million more things to come. Mrs. Johnson, and I don't mind telling you so right now from the porch!"

However, Mr. and Mrs. Johnson were observed strolling and gazing into the shop windows the other afternoon, and Mrs. Johnson was not only wearing her rooster hat, but Mr. Johnson was making good eyes at it and outspokenly admiring it and comparing it in terms of laudation with other hats of a similar sort in the milliners' show-rooms. SEINERS SHOOT GAME WARDENS

SNEER AT OFFICERS' COMMAND

Fishermen in Boat Answer Order to Halt With Volley From Shotguns—Desert Craft and Leave Trail of Blood Behind Them.

Chicago, May 21.—Two more men have been shot as a result of the feud between the Tolleston Gun club and local hunters near Hammond, Ind. The victims were wounded in the body with birdshot, directed at them by supposed illegal fishermen on Lake Wewassee.

There were four game wardens in the party which attempted to stop four men in a boat Tuesday night. Volleys from shotguns were exchanged, and it is believed that some of the offenders were wounded. After they deserted their boat and made their escape a trail of blood was found along the shore. One man has been killed and several have been wounded and had narrow escapes in the last year in the feud which sprang up when the club insisted on having wardens placed in the district to protect the game for members.

Fire on Wardens. Head Warden W. C. Kunert and his deputies, Leroy Fitch, R. D. Fleming and L. Clark, have been investigating reports of illegal seining for some time. Complaint had been made by many in the neighborhood, and the investigation was made under orders of the state game warden.

The party of four wardens were cruising around the lake in the evening, on the lookout for seiners. As they neared the west bank they saw four men in a boat and halted them.

The fishermen greeted a command to halt with hoots and taunts.

"We command you to stop. We are game wardens," cried Kunert.

The reply was a volley from shotguns in the hands of the fishermen. The first shots struck Fitch and Fleming. They are severely wounded in the body, but will recover.

Boat Gives Clew. The wardens returned the fire, and for several minutes a fusillade was kept up. Cries of distress from the fishermen's boat told that the officers' aim had been accurate. The seiners headed for the bank, abandoned their boat and retreated.

The officers hustled themselves with their wounded, and did not attempt to pursue. The seiners' boat was left behind. It is said to belong to a prominent young farmer, and forms a clew which Warden Kunert declares will lead to several arrests.

With the wounding of these two wardens the feud between the hunters and the officers of the state has become more desperate than ever. It is less than a year ago that a warden was killed while trying to arrest a couple of young men who were breaking the game laws.

Review of the Feud. He had followed them for the greater part of the day, and he told one of his deputies an hour before he was killed that he had seen them shoot at game which was not in season. In order to make sure of them, however, he declared that he would wait until they had bagged something. The accepted theory is that he did this and then tried to arrest these men, and that they killed him in order to escape.

Six months before this warden was shot two others were badly hurt by four men, said to be Chicagoans. The wardens came upon the men unexpectedly and demanded that they show what they had bagged. For reply one of the hunters emptied his shotgun at a warden, and at least two of the others also opened fire.

Set Fire to Hut. Luckily, the loads were bird shot, and the wardens were not killed. They declared at the time that they could identify the hunters, but no arrests ever have been made. The wardens intimate, however, that money has been used in some way to protect these hunters who violate the laws, but they admit they have no evidence to prove this.

Supplies the Brains. Berlin, May 21.—Prof. Ernst von Halle of Berlin university, says the United States is beginning to govern the world, industrially, by supplying the intelligence and organizing capacity, while the world supplies the capital.

Can anyone suppose that we would double the necessary cost of our brewing without a vital reason?

Would we spend so much on cleanliness? Would we cool the beer in plate glass rooms? Would we filter all the air that touches it? Would we age it for months? Would we sterilize every bottle?

We do it to attain absolute purity—to avoid the remotest possibility of germs—to make Schlitz Beer healthful.

Why accept a common beer, brewed without any of these precautions, when Schlitz Beer costs no more?

Your dealer may prefer to furnish a beer that pays a little more profit; but does it pay you to permit it? Isn't pure beer—Schlitz Beer—worth asking for?
